

BRINGING IT ALL BACK HOME

All in all there is something to be said for General Hershey; not much, mind, but there is this: Friday he democratized the draft. Now student and occupational deferments have been wiped from the forebrains of our friendly local draft boards. For a couple of years a lot of us have known that deferments weren't the fairest because they made the money it took to stay in school blood money. We were safe, the poor weren't, and we knew what Stokely Carmichael meant when he said "No Viet Cong ever called me nigger!" The threat of a draft wasn't on us, though, and it was possible to fight the war riding a deferment.

But General Hershey, who spent his military career chairborne, brought it all back home Friday. And now J.E. Wallace Sterling, Virgil Whitaker, and Richard Lyman, and every male on campus who does not know the ironic grace of an imperfect or injured body is up-tight. We're not being channeled by the club of induction now, we're being hit by it. So come June it's good-bye to all this--wives, lovers, the Farm, and reason.

Some of us who did not feel warmed and cheered by General Hershey's announcement are meeting in White Plaza at noon Wednesday (February 21). Not to ask for our deferments back. Not to merely protest the draft. WE WILL MEET WEDNESDAY TO DECIDE WHAT TO DO ABOUT THE NEWLY DEMOCRATIZED CANCER IN THIS SOCIETY, THE DRAFT.

WHITE PLAZA--NOON WEDNESDAY

Some people will speak at our meeting. The mike will be open for everyone. You all come--now.

PREVENT STANFORD FROM BECOMING THE VASSAR OF THE WEST.

The Stanford Anti-Draft Union will meet Wednesday, at 8:15, in room 275, TMU, to implement some of the ideas discussed at Noon.

If you have any questions about the draft, come to our table in White Plaza, write us at Box 2684, Stanford, or call us at 325-7604.

HELL NO! WE WON'T GO!
