"There are more liberals per square inch at CIA than anywhere else in the Government."

N.Y. Times, April 26, 1966

"The Bay of Pigs invasion was only the most spectacular and best publicized of the CIA's special operations. There was the Iranian affair in 1953 and in the following year the overthrow of the Arbenz regime in Guatemala. The CIA also appears to have had a hand in the main risings in Eastern Europe, in East Berlin, and Hungary."

John Lindsay, speech in House of Reps
August 15, 1963.
