

BACK TO AEL

MEETING of the April 3rd MOVEMENT
NOON Friday, April 25th
AEL COURTYARD--

We occupied the Applied Electronics Lab (Blank Building) over two weeks ago because our demands concerning research carried on at Stanford and its wholly owned subsidiary, the Stanford Research Institute, had not been met. We left on April 18, after the administration agreed that for one week no work would be done in the building. This Friday the doors at AEL reopen, and, as we decided last week, our meeting will be held in the courtyard there. It has been three weeks since we made our demands that Stanford stop its death research. We are still waiting. Join us in deciding how to act to have those demands implemented.
