

RESIST!

Ten percent of your phone bill goes directly to support the war in Southeast Asia. You can show your opposition to this war by refusing to pay the U.S. tax added to your phone bill each month. Simply send in a statement of explanation with your bill. Your phone will not be disconnected. The Internal Revenue Service will eventually go directly to your bank account for your unpaid taxes. Check with your bank to see whether they charge for this "service". Some banks do not. A mass resistance movement could effectively interrupt this system.
