The American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, 1200 17th Street Northwest, Washington, D.C., has recently released a book entitled "Who Should Run the Universities?" This book lists as selling for $5.75.

The American Enterprise Institute is a nonprofit research and educational organization. Its purpose is to assist the nation's policy makers, legislators, and educational leaders. It sponsors symposiums and seminars in order to bring together outstanding authors for an open exchange of opinion and views.

The above book is the text of a debate between John A. Howard, President, Rockford College, and the subject, who is an associate professor at Stanford University and a Security Index subject of the San Francisco Office.

You are requested to obtain a copy of the above book and to thereafter forward it to San Francisco, office of origin.
